Flying Food Group Expands Service at LAX and Key US Gateways as International Carriers Grow American Routes

Longtime and new airline customers add Flying Food Group at Los Angeles, San Francisco, Washington Dulles and other US airports

Flying Food Group (FFG), the leading provider in the airline catering and inflight services sector, recently announced a series of new and expanded catering agreements as international airlines grow their US routes and choose FFG as their culinary partner across the country.

Flying Food Group expands its services for international carriers across key US gateways, including Los Angeles, San Francisco, New York and Washington, D.C. The new service additions showcase growing airline partnerships and FFG's continued role in supporting international routes with tailored inflight dining experiences.

The company has expanded its longstanding partnership with Scandinavian Airlines (SAS) at Los Angeles International Airport (LAX), adding catering for the airline's daily nonstop service between Los Angeles and Copenhagen. The service launched on June 1, 2026, bringing FFG's SAS operations to seven locations across the United States.

Flying Food Group also extended its partnership with LOT Polish Airlines to support the carrier's new nonstop service between San Francisco International Airport and Warsaw Chopin Airport.

In another significant development, Brussels Airlines selected Flying Food Group to provide inflight catering for its daily services from New York's John F. Kennedy International Airport and Washington Dulles International Airport to Brussels. The partnership adds to FFG's work with international airline groups and reinforces its presence in two important East Coast markets.

"These developments reflect the confidence our airline partners place in Flying Food Group and the strength of the relationships we have built over time," said a Flying Food Group spokesperson. "As international carriers expand their US operations, we are focused on bringing together our culinary expertise, operational capabilities and nationwide network to support their growth and deliver a consistent onboard experience for passengers."

As international air travel continues to connect more US cities with destinations around the world, Flying Food Group remains focused on growing its airline partnerships and supporting the passenger experience through quality, service and operational excellence.
